Browning's Concert In Hollywood Bowl Pleases Los Angeles News Critics

One of Carmel's adopted sons visited here recently and may return several more times between engagements which will keep him on the West Coast much of the summer.

He is John Browning, the young pianist whose rocketing career on the concert stage has been of special interest to Peninsulites since his stay here at Fort Ord last year.

It is partly Army, in fact, which brings him back for two more weeks of training at the Presidio in San Francisco under the reserve training program following John's recent hectic but successful tour of Europe.

Since leaving Fort Ord last December, he has played in Los Angeles, Pasadena, Colorado, Witchita, Springfield (Missouri), Detroit, Virginia, Antwerp, Vienna, Italy and Switzerland.

Browning played July 26 in the Hollywood Bowl and will go again to Europe in the fall to appear in the American Pavilion of the World's Fair September 8, under sponsorship of the U.S. State Department.

After that it will be Saudi Arabia, then back to New York for a Town Hall concert in November.

Although 25-year-old Browning has been playing concerts off and on since he was 10 and already has to his credit 60 European appearances, this marks his first full season since 1955-56. His work on this continent has already included six concerts in Mexico.

A serious, somewhat brooding young man, John Browning is nevertheless friendly and conversationally inclined. He says he enjoys every minute he spends on a stage, and gains much satisfaction from sharing music with others who enjoy it.

"You feel audience appreciation in various ways," he says. Smaller towns are inclined to be more demonstrative and enthusiastic in their kudos but necessarily so.

"In Belgium if they like you they go wild. In Holland, they don't clap, but they stand up. Either way, it's impressive."

The time spent off the stage during a concert tour, Browning complains, as many others have complained before him, is a kaleidoscope of murky arrivals at train depots in early-morning hours and hasty rehearsals on unpredic-

Dr. and Mrs. Haasis, And Six-toed Cat Pawsy To Retire From Lookout

BY RAYLYN PENNEY

At the close of the fire season this fall, Dr. and Mrs. Ferdinand W. Haasis will come down from their "vacation home" in the Sid Ormsbee fire watch station for the last time. Dr. Haasis, who began his duty there when the station was built 11 years ago, retires this year as a smoke spotter for the California Division of Forestry.

Although the veteran forester last week told the Pine Cone about his retirement plans, right now, with range grass and chaparral crackling dry and the fire danger great, he is as busy as he has ever been at the lookout.

Retirement will be a second time experience for Dr. Haasis, who took the forestry job on his original retirement from an active career as a plant physiologist and botanist.

The Haasises look back on their time spent 2272 feet up in the clear air above Carmel Valley as a kind of continuing summer idyll, a rare gift of peaceful isolation among the wildflowers, the owls, the deer, the hummingbirds, the gray foxes and the golden eagles of California's higher elevations.

The station itself, a familiar landmark of this area, stands on Pinyon Peak on the 26,000-acre Oppenheimer cattle ranch. It is situated about eight miles from the beginning of Carmel Valley on the valley's west rim and overlooks the Monterey Peninsula on the north, the coast on the west, Mount Toro on the east and the Chews Ridge country on the south. In clear weather visibility extends even to the observatory on Mount Hamilton, some 56 miles distant.

Named for a Santa Cruz County assistant forest ranger who died in the battle of Messina, Italy, in 1943, the tower station is one of

Biggest School Budget In History Published On Page 5

On page 5 of this issue of the Pine Cone, the budget of the Carmel Unified School District for 1958-1959 is published with the notice of hearing at the Carmel High School at 7:00 o'clock in the evening of August 7.

At this time the school board will listen to protests, if any, and set the tax rate at $2.00. There will also be a tax of 27 to 40 cents for bonds (depending if you live in the Valley or in the Carmel District) plus the junior college tax, last year around 35 cents; not yet determined this year.

Total school tax will come close to $3.00 per hundred. Howard Reed, of Reed and Heckenlaible, school accountants, estimates.

The $2.30 is based on operating budget needs of $779,625. Last year's requirement of $484,039.00 was met by a $1.78 tax. Breakdown of the $1.78-$2.30: general purpose tax for last year was $1.65 to raise $450,000.00; this year, $2.15 for $725,152.43; last year, five cents for district contribution to retirement annuity fund, $12,855.00; this year, six cents for $19,867.32; last year, two and four tenths cents for district contri-

Sad News For P. D. It's Cheaper To Keep Cars 2 Years

The Carmel Police Department's gentle but determined campaign to change city council-policy of replacing police cars every two years to every year met with a financial obstacle this week when City Clerk Larry Rose made some calculations and placed the results on a graph which the city council will have an opportunity to study at their budget sessions next month.

The police department has urged that repair costs increase so much in the second year that it would be more economical to turn in the police cars for a new one at the end of the first year's service.

Mr. Rose's figures, based on record of repair costs and cost of purchase of new cars show that over a period of 42 months, cost of repairing a police car and replacing it at two years' intervals is $3,906. Cost of first year repairs and replacing every year over a period of 42 months, would be $5,206.

In 42 months it would cost $1,313 more per car to replace police cars yearly than every two years. Since the department has two cars, the increased cost over a 42 month period would be $2,626.

Mr. Rose found that second year

Marie Hawley Seriously Burned Falls Off Balcony

Mrs. Marie Hawley, suffering from burns and possible other injuries, was taken to the Peninsula Community Hospital this morning in the Red Cross ambulance operated by Carmel Volunteer Firemen. She was still in surgery when the Pine Cone went to press at 2:00 o'clock.

At 10:14 o'clock the Division of Forestry Carmel Hill Fire Patrol firemen were called to San Mateo Road near San Luis in Carmel Woods for a structural fire. On arrival, according to Harry McAuley, assistant ranger at the station, they found Mrs. Hawley on the ground and badly burned. There was no fire in the apartment over the double garage.

Mrs. Booth Mary Roberts, a neighbor and a nurse, told Mr. McAuley she heard Mrs. Hawley scream and rushed into her home. She said she found Mrs. Hawley on fire in the kitchen of the apartment and wrapped her in a blanket to extinguish the flames, then called the Fire Station. While she was telephoning, Mrs. Hawley ran out on a balcony and fell to the concrete below. Her sheer nightgown was almost burned away.

The firemen surmised that Mrs. Hawley had set fire to her nightgown attempting to light a cigarette. A cigarette was missing from a package found in the kitchen and nearby was a completely burned book of matches.

Mrs. Roberts received burns on her hands while assisting Mrs. Hawley.

Later, Mrs. Roberts said Mrs. Hawley's nightgown, which she thought to be a synthetic material, melted as it burned. Mrs. Hawley had tried to extinguish the burning garment with a comforter, also of a material which melted, according to Mrs. Roberts.

TWO NEW SHOWS AT THE GALLERY

Donald Teague and his hanging committee will be busy at the Carmel Art Association Galleries Monday night getting the August exhibition ready to open Tuesday. Both galleries will be devoted to general shows.

Maybe The Pines Will Have A Chance At Aug. 6 Meeting

At its meeting Wednesday night, the city council will have another opportunity to look at the planning commission's carefully worked out, detailed, five-year reforestation program and may of the city marked with 450 exes to indicate the exact location for planting each of the 450 young pines.

The planning commission approved the program and planting map, submitted by Hugh Smith and Jessie MacGregor, at its June 25 meeting and referred them to the city council for acceptance and action.

At its July 9 meeting, and again at its July 21 adjourned meeting, the council was too busy with petitions, proposals and discussions on barring chainstores, liquor shops and bars, and motels from Carmel to get to the item on its agenda: "PC 4.48 5-year reforestation program, implementation."

The same item will appear on the August 8 council meeting agenda and the following will be read:

Committee or Administrative Findings and Recommendations:

"In November of 1957 the Planning Commission found that the Planning Commission Holds Hearing Wed. On 40-60 Ordinance

Wednesday afternoon, at 4:00 o'clock in the City Hall, the Carmel Planning Commission will hold a public hearing on an urgency amendment to the city interim zoning ordinance. The amendment, framed by the City Council, is planned to control further motel building in Carmel.

The amendment requires that the square footage covered by multiple dwellings in both C-1 and C-2 business districts shall not exceed 60 percent of the building site. The other 40 percent of the site is to be open space for offstreet parking, landscaping, driveways and service areas. Each dwelling unit of a multiple dwelling must have one offstreet parking space.

New Zealanders Unimpressed By Carmel Scenery

"Our scenery equals yours," said Mr. and Mrs. Russell Hyslop of Christchurch, South Island, New Zealand, "but we have never seen such diversity of architecture, especially homes, and such variety of merchandise for sale in so many shops."

The Hyslops were in Carmel last Friday and Saturday, visiting Dr. Eric Berne, whom they met on his two trips to the South Pacific. They recently won 45,000 pounds (approximately $100,000) in the tax free lottery run by the Australian government and decided to celebrate by coming to the United States as well as taking a cruise to South Pacific Islands and Hawaii.

Mr. Hyslop operates a chain of beauty shops and a milk delivery business in Christchurch, which has a population of 135,000 people and is situated in the center of New Zealand's wheat and grain growing region.

"We raise cattle in our area, too," remarked the Hyslops, "and thousands of sheep. Good farming land costs $125 an acre."

The Hyslops were interested that deer are protected in California.

LITTLE LEAGUE BARBECUE WINDS UP PERFECT SEASON

President Bill Woolsey and his hard-working assistants hosted over 300 players, parents, and fans in a season-ending Little League barbecue held at the Monterey Fairgrounds last Sunday afternoon. The bounteous barbecue was climaxed by presentation of awards to players graduating from Little League, certificates for sponsors and managers, trophies for the winners, and an enthusiastic speech by Gene Robertson, District Little League Supervisor. Gene, a former professional and Mission League player, originated Little League in this area and was instrumental in encouraging Little League in Carmel. He slipped Bill Woolsey a well-deserved accolade by classifying him as the most enthusiastic Little League president in Northern California.

BOYS' TOWN HOSTS FORT ORD IN LITTLE LEAGUE PLAYOFF FRIDAY EVENING

Carmel's Little League champion, Boys' Town, managed by Bill Rosenkranz and George Macy, enters the Area Playoffs this Friday evening in a 6:00 o'clock tilt with the strong Fort Ord champions. The Rosenkranz-Macy managerial combine is confident the Carmel champs have the tools to give the visiting Ord team a stern tussle and go into further playoffs on Saturday afternoon. If Boys' Town gets over Fort Ord, the Carmel Valley champs will furnish the opposition in a 3:00 o'clock Saturday game. A win over Carmel Valley will set up the local Little Leaguers for a try at the area championship at Watsonville on Saturday, August 9.

The Boys' Town one-two pitching combination of David Rosenkranz and Ronnie Jella are fit and ready for Friday's opener with Fort Ord, having rested since winning the local championship from the Wilder & Jones squad.

CARMEL MERCHANTS CLIP HOLLISTER, 7 TO 1

Rested after a week of strenuous play in the Tri-County Tournament, the Carmel Merchant softball team bounced back with a sparkling win over the Baughman Department Store team of Hollister. Played at Hollister last Monday night, the game was a challenge affair emanating from the action in Pacific Grove tournament. Johnny DeAmaral pitched three innings in the winning effort, giving up 1 hit and 1 run, before being relieved by Simms who pitched a no-hitter the rest of the way. For Simms, this made his 11th consecutive no-hit no-run inning as he had pitched a no-hitter against the Telephone Company in his last outing in the Peninsula Softball League. Bill Conlan was the leading sticker for the Merchants in the Hollister win, stroking three singles in four trips to the plate. Jim Fisher and Denicio Narvaez helped to power the Merchant offense with two hits in four chances. Tim O'Shea, a rookie with the Merchants, roamed far and wide in the outfield to haul down potential Baughman hits.

CARMEL SWIMMERS OUTSTROKE WATSONVILLE

The Carmel swim club continued its winning ways last Saturday morning by dunking the Watsonville recreation swim team, 180 to 96, as Ann Giles and Doyle Clayton splashed to triple victories to lead the undefeated Carmel swimmers. Doyle picked up blue ribbons in the 50 yard freestyle, the backstroke, and individual medley, while Ann touched first in the 50 freestyle, medley, and butterfly.

A night swim meet is next on tap for the ambitious Carmel swimmers when they travel to Watsonville this Friday for a 7:00 p.m. meet with Gilroy, Monterey, Pacific Grove, and host Watsonville.

Winners at the Carmel-Watsonville swimming meet last Saturday were: Doyle Clayton, first in the 50 yard freestyle, first in the 50 yard backstroke and first in the 100 yard individaul medley; Barbara Giles, first in the 50 yard freestyle, first in the 25 yard butterfly and second in the 25 yard breaststroke; Jimmy Zils, third in the 25 yard freestyle and third in the 25 yard backstroke; Lesley Strosnider, first in the 50 yard breaststroke, second in the 50 yard butterfly and third in the bution to employees retirement, $5,550.00; this year, four cents, $12,445.25 (these items are based on percent of payroll. New teachers were hired and everybody got a raise this year); community service, both years, five cents, the tax limit.

Outstanding items of increased cost which boosted the general purpose tax from $1.65 to $2.15, an increase of $275,152 can be observed in the budget on page 5 under heading No. 4 Expenditures and Transfers, where the comparative figures for 1957-58; and 1958-59 budgets are lined up in parallel columns. One item alone, "instruction" accounts for $222,919 increase (last year $545,391; this year $768,300). This represents salaries for additional teachers and a general raise in pay. Administration costs are up over $17,000 to cover cost of hiring additional personnel and increasing salaries. Transportation costs are up $20,000; school plant operation up $20,000, etc.

The public hearing on the budget is held to give the taxpayers a chance to ask for breakdown on budget items, which is published in skeleton form, and to offer protests if they wish.

Dr. Von Urban's Autobiography Is Published In London

Myself Not Least is the title of an autobiography by Dr. Rudolf von Urban of Carmel which has just been brought out in London by Jarrolds Publishers, Ltd. Dr. von Urban told the Pine Cone this week that his agents are negotiating with the London firm so that the book can be published by an American house in November.

In his preface, Dr. von Urban quotes from Tennyson's Ulysses;

"Much have I seen and known; cities of men and manners, climates, councils, governments — Myself not least . . ." in explanation of the title. The subtitle on the dust cover of the book is: "Sensational Memoirs by a Psychiatrist."

"Had I written my autobiography ten years ago, it would have been quite different," the 79 year old disciple of Freud writes. "Shame and pride would have tempted me to omit some and to correct others of my deeds and thoughts, in an attempt to present a better picture of myself. But now, as a man well past his three score years and fifteen who has at last outgrown that common human failing, vanity, I feel better able to judge my own past, and to analyze its events with relentless severity. I have tried to execute my task without leniency toward myself."

Dr. von Urban does not wish the book to be revised until its United States publication makes it available to American readers. Divided in two sections, the first part of the volume covers his birth, growing up, education, and professional establishment in the Vienna of Franz Lehar and Franz Joseph. The second section is concerned with the period after World War I, of his turning from hospital management and general medical practice to specialization in psychiatry. It contains case histories from his practice and brings his personal narrative up to date, including his coming to Carmel and his trial and acquittal by Judge Ray Baugh of the charge of practicing medicine without a license.

A talented family group will be publicly introduced to Carmel tomorrow, when Years Ago opens at the Golden Bough Circle Theatre. The Ruth Gordon comedy features in its cast Mrs. Edith Dinkin and her two daughters, Deanna and Tina, who moved to Carmel from the San Francisco Bay area a few weeks ago.

Mrs. Dinkin is primarily a painter, who counts among her accomplishments a one-man show at the Lucien Labaudt Gallery in San Francisco, selection as a rental artist by the Oakland Art Museum, and a permanent display of her work at the Able I in Berkeley. But she has long been active in the theatre, as a director, designer, costumer and actress. At one time co-producer with her husband of the Intimate Theatre in Walnut Creek, she has also recently appeared on Lafayette and Berkeley stages.

The long and impressive list of parts she has played includes leading roles in The Little Foxes, Come Back Little Sheba, The Sleeping Prince and Picnic. She is now to add to this the role of the mother in Years Ago, created on Broadway by Florence Eldridge.

Daughter Deanna, 18, appeared with her mother in William Inge's Picnic, and has also acted on her own. The long and important role of Elma in Inge's Bus Stop is her proudest theatrical accomplishment to date. In Years Ago at the Circle, she will be seen as Katherine Follett, the best friend of author Ruth Gordon, who writes of her own teen-age aspirations to go on the stage.

The third member of the family is Tina, aged 15, already well on the way to creating a theatrical record of her own. Her appearances include roles in the psychological drama Guest in the House, and in Terence Rattigan's high comedy, The Sleeping Prince, again with her mother. Perhaps the busiest person in Years Ago, Tina will be her sister's alternate in the role of Katherine, as well as understudy to two other young actresses, property mistress and prompter.

Although they have worked on plays in pairs for many years, this is the first time that all three of the Dinkins will be together in one production. "That's why we were so delighted to hear of the readings at the Golden Bough," says Mrs. Dinkin, who had already unpacked the family's belongings in their new home before she presented herself and her daughters to director Frank Parker for auditions.

Playing Friday, Saturday and Sunday evenings for the next six weeks at the Circle on Casanova Street, the Dinkins will soon be an established part of the Carmel theatrical scene.

Dr. And Mrs. Haasis, And Six Toed-Cat To Retire From Lookout

four state-operated lookouts in Monterey County.

(Others are Chalone Mountain Lookout in Pinnacles Monument overloking King City, and Smith Mountain Lookout with a view of Mustang Ridge, Peachtree Valley and Priest Valley. There are federal lookouts on Chews Ridge, Ventana Double Cone, Santa Lucia, Pinyon Peak in southern Monterey County, Cone Peak and Three Peaks.)

The Ormsbee station was named for the ranger instead of the peak it stands on to avoid confusion with the federal station on a peak of the same name.

As a smoke watcher, Dr. Haasis is responsible for territory in a fifteen-mile radius of his perch in the tower, although he would report any unusual smoke he could see, no matter how far away.

This territory is largely a highly convoluted terrain, covered in fire season with extremely combustible grass, brush and stands of trees scattered in the folds of the hills. Administration of the lookout under the State Division of Forestry is a slight bureaucratic misnomer, since the state authorities are concerned as much with protecting range and watersheds as with protecting trees.

A fire superintendent in a station of this kind makes a required check at least every 12 minutes, oftener with high fire danger. The Haasises time their routine with a regulation kitchen timer and make their surveillances by walking completely around the tower's catwalk.

If smoke is sighted, Dr. Haasis determines its location with the help of a "fire finder," a mounted sighting instrument with a map on its stationary base, mounted for easy sighting out any of the twelve tower windows.

Then he estimates the distance and best access route from the Carmel Hill station and notifies station firemen so equipment can be dispatched.

During his tenure at Ormsbee, he has sighted and implemented action on many of the range fires in this area. The biggest, he says, was the famous "Devil fire," which burned over 10,000 acres on Devil's Peak and brought 1500 fire fighters to the spectacular scene in 1954.

After a few months and a few false alarms, a watch learns not to be beguiled by smoke from industrial plants, burning dumps and coastal freighters, by fog and by dust from unpaved roads. He also learns that burning grass emits white smoke and burning oil black. A timber fire is brownish.

Additional station duties include a weather watch, employing latest techniques for weather checking. Dr. Haasis makes a daily fire-weather report on humidity, wind, fog and temperatures for King City headquarters.

During fire season, which is roughly mid-May to mid-November, but may extend indefinitely until the winter range greens up enough to cut fire danger, the watch is on call 24 hours a day and on duty making regular smoke checks from 8:00 a.m. to at least 6:00 o'clock p.m. He normally works five weeks, then takes 10 days' leave. It has been mostly Mrs. Haasis's job to come down to Carmel every Tuesday for mail and groceries.

However, in the spare time that makes this job so enviable, the Haasises have found time to collect and identify hundreds of wild flowers of the area and to read countless books by the dependable glow of their mammoth kerosene lamp.

He has painted a series of beautiful classification plates of the collected plants and Mrs. Haasis (Bessie to friends) has worked steadily at transcribing Braille texts for use by sightless children in Monterey schools. She takes along on her hikes an Audubon bird caller and at the station she feeds sugar solution to a big family of humming birds.

In preference to spending nights in the closed-in bedroom floor of their 4-story wood and steel tower building, the couple spend most nights sleeping on the high narrow catwalk under a sparkling sky and over a sea of fog which collects in the lower elevations.

Their nearest neighbors (at Oppenheimer ranch headquarters) are three miles distant and the Haasis "home" is off limits to visitors except by invitation. A locked metal gate at the junction of Robinson Canyon Road and the dirt lane cut by the Division of Forestry keeps chance sightseers away from the 35-foot tower. No vehicle at all is allowed on the dirt lane after it turns muddy and after the lookout has been closed against winter rains and winds.

The Haasis couple, grandparents of eight and Carmelites for 30 years, are well known on the Peninsula and in the Valley. He is author of some 50 articles and papers covering his chief interests: botany, forestry and photography, and was connected with forestry in various capacities in Idaho, Kentucky and New York before coming to California.

From 1942 to 1946 Dr. Haasis superintended an analytical laboratory engaged in rubber research at Alisal. Other activities have included plant research for the forest service, two years of teaching forestry at the University of Idaho and four years of botanical research in the Coastal Laboratory of the Carnegie Institute at Carmel.

His BS is from Rutgers University and his MS in forestry from Yale. He was awarded his doctorate in plant physiology by Johns Hopkins University.

With the Haasises when they return to civilization will be their cat, a six-toed (per paw) brindled mouser named Pawsy, to point up her singularity, faithful companion to the Haasises in the tower for 10 of the 11 idyllic summers.

And when the Haasis pair is freed of fire station duties, what then? They'll spend their time reading and camping in the Sierra, as they have spent their leaves and vacations up to now. On duty or off, they still prefer the outdoors and solitude.

Council To Get Annexation Report For October Meeting

Chris Neddersen, chairman of the city council appointed annexation study committee, is sending out letters today to his committee members asking that any reports that have not been completed—most of them have—be ready for the September 22, 23 annexation committee study meetings so that the group will be prepared to submit their final report to the city council at its October 8 meeting.

The committee, appointed in February, has been gathering statistics that will aid the city council to determine whether or not it would be advantageous to accept for annexation the heavily populated areas surrounding the city, if they should petition; and if so, whether it would be better to accept all of them at once or to take them in area by area.

As an example of the kind of information they will provide the council, Mr. Neddersen asked the county assessor for a breakdown of the property valuation of Carmel Unincorporated area by area. He provided the assessor with a map with the boundaries outlined so that council will know the value of each individual area if peacemeal annexation should come under consideration.

At their meetings which have been held twice a month since February, they have questioned city councilmen, and department heads. Subcommittees have made individual surveys. The subcommittee on streets, Donald Craig and Robert Spencer, drove over every road and street in the incorporated area, measured the total footage, determined standard of improvement in relation to Carmel streets, additional equipment and personnel that would be necessary if they were annexed. The subcommittee on police: Mrs. Dorothy Chapman and Norman Fontes; on fire; Dr. Walter Williams and Roderick Wilson; on general government; John Clancy and George Walker, on library; Helen Heavey on zoning: Mrs. Ruth Ware and A. H. Mueh have followed the same approach in seeking out the statistics relative to their assignment.

Mr. Chapman, Craig and Spencer have prepared a format for the report to the council and have already done some preliminary work on it, incorporating the subcommittee reports that have been turned in to them.

Maybe The Pines Will Have A Chance At Aug. 6 Meeting

pine forest in some parts of Carmel was in need of attention. Natural reproduction was not occurring and it was found that treatment of mature trees for insect infestation and disease was not practical. In February of this year the commission recommended a general reforestation program that was subsequently adopted by the City Council. Today our committee supplements that general program with a specific plan.

"In ten years we may be without the upper story of our forest in some parts of the city. If we are to keep this upper level, pines of all ages must exist. Since there is a serious lack of young trees, we must correct this deficiency now. This can be done by planting 450 trees during the next five-year period. The map attached shows locations where trees are needed, and indicates that 150 should go in the business district and 300 in the residential zone. We suggest that 30 trees per year be put in the business district and 60 in the residential. The permanent assignment of one or more members of the street department to the planting and maintenance of trees and parks would help greatly in providing the consistent care necessary.

After five years the part of the forest owned by the city will have enough new growth to sustain it. From then on only replacement planting will be necessary. Unfortunately, city property is generally narrow, poor in quality and has wires overhead. It is sincerely hoped that supplementary efforts will be made by citizens on their own property where possible."

The map is the result of a painstaking, block by block survey of the entire town by the civic improvement committee of the planning commission, one member of which is a professional forester, Hugh Smith. Another member of the seven-member planning commission, Herb Blanks, is a trained forester, though he is now engaged in another profession.

Music On The Peninsula

By Mary Lindsay-Oliver

Mariano Cordoba, guitarist, and Carmen Ruiz, gypsy dancer, presented by Grace Rosenthal, entertained a fair-sized audience Saturday evening at Sunset Auditorium. Although both recently resided in San Francisco, these artists have travelled much in concert presentations and earned a place of renown. Nevertheless, one has heard and seen a higher calibre in Flamenco music and dancing, but they thoroughly pleased those present. It is natural for the Peninsula public, with so much Spanish in its background, to be attracted to the guitar, and its popularity has recently grown much in the community. This plucked instrument, developed from the Moors, was exceedingly popular throughout Europe during the 17th Century, and Spain and Mexico have always retained its cultivation. Even Paganini is said to have forsaken his violin once for three years' devotion to the guitar and included it in chamber music composition. Schubert and Berlioz also played it and the modern Percy Grainger wrote a new technique for what is known as "The Australian Way."

The Flamenco or Gypsy Music of Andalucia that Cordoba played included some ancient forms by Solears, Alboradi, Guajiras, Tientos, Peteneras and others. One by Farruca Danza, relating to the wars of expulsion of the Moors, was particularly brilliant. All guitarists have a free hand in extemporization which gypsy music lends itself to easily, as Cordoba cleverly demonstrated throughout his program and accompanying the dances of Carmen Ruiz. Her hand and foot movements and spirited performance in famous dances from Cadiz, Huelva and Andalucia stirred enthusiasm from the audience and created a duo presentation of unusual folk interest and charm.

The Carmel Foundation announces Open House at Town House, Lincoln at Eighth. The Board of Directors invites those in the community who are interested in the purposes, services and activities of Town House to attend the Opening Tea of the Sixth Anniversary Art Exhibit on August 5, from 3:00 to 5:00 o'clock. There will be paintings by artists who have had showings since 1952 and exhibits of other Town House activities. The show will remain throughout August. Hours: Mondays through Fridays, 10:00 to 5:00 o'clock.

E. L. Thompson

Private funeral services for Edgar Lloyd Thompson were held on Saturday afternoon with Carmel Lodge 680, F. and A. M. officiating. Pallbearers were Leslie C. Deck, Frederick M. Reinmund, John E. Flatley, Norman C. Winslow, William L. Robertson and Gordon C. Browne.

Mr. Thompson died on July 24 in his home on Lobos Street between First and Second Avenues after a long illness. He was born on July 17, 1891, in Cleveland, Ohio.

Before coming to live in Carmel three years ago, Mr. Thompson lived in Oakland where he was a real estate broker for ten years and maintained a real estate office. He was an active member of the Oakland Real Estate Board. Previously he lived in Southern California.

Mr. Thompson was a member of Magnolia Lodge, F. and A. M. in Santa Barbara and of the Scottish Rite in the same city.

Survivors are his wife, Mrs. Elizabeth C. Thompson of Carmel; and two daughters, Mrs. James Drouillard of Vicenza, Italy, and Mrs. Del Brown of San Leandro.

MARY LINDSAY-OLIVER PUPILS PERFORM

A program by a group from the Lindsay-Oliver Studio will be given at the Carmel Foundation Town House on Wednesday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock.

This program was specially requested by some members of the Foundation who heard the recent recital at the All Saints' Parish Hall. Tea will follow the program.

FROM A LIBRARIAN'S NOTEBOOK

By Ruth Galvin Thornburg

A new group of films has reached our library. The three new films are entitled Banff and Lake Louise, Newfoundland Double Header, and Meet Manitoba. Perhaps we should repeat here that these films are furnished us by the Canadian Film Board and are for free use by the people of this community. We shall book them for showings, and the only requirements are that a report must be made on how many persons saw the showings, and the borrower must assume responsibility for the careful handling of the films themselves.

The late Kenneth Roberts, who won a Pulitzer Prize for his historical writing, has just had published his last book, a short one entitled The Battle of Cowpens. This battle was a turning point in the American Revolution. The book itself is an interesting example of modern book composing. Moving forward historically, we have another battle book, this one concerning a famous encounter of the Civil War. Frank Haskell, a Union officer, wrote of the Battle of Gettysburg as he saw and experienced it, and Bruce Catton has edited it to form a book. The editor says that this is a book for the general reader rather than the specialist. It makes the action as real and thrilling as it was at the time it happened. Both of these books are small. The Revolutionary battle could be read in a short evening, and Civil War battle will take you a little longer, but not much. You will enjoy both of them.

Notes from Warsaw Ghetto by Emmanuel Ringelblum has had so much notice it seems almost unnecessary to discuss it at length in this column. Suffice it to say that this book gives a first hand account of those terrible days in Warsaw which were fictionalized by John Hersey in The Wall. The actual notes were recovered from the rubble of the ghetto in two parts, one in 1946 and the second in 1950. Emmanuel Ringelblum was executed with his family in 1944. The publishing of his journal is an event in literature and in history.

That undying pastime, croquet, has a new book by Paul Brown entitled Croquet. It gives all the rules and strategy for home play. Melvin Van is a grip-man on a cable car in San Francisco. Teaming with photographer, Ruth Bernhard has produced a book of photographs and comment from the standpoint of a grip-man, but enjoyment comes from the standpoint of all of us who love to ride the cable cars. The title of the book is The Big Heart and it was published by the Fearon people in San Francisco. This is another book which will take only a short time for reading but a long time of enjoyment for remembering.

Those who loved Peter Pan, and that includes about all of us, will welcome a small volume by J. M. Barrie entitled When Wendy Grew Up. It tells the story of what happened when Wendy was grown and had a small daughter of her own. And finally the last one of this group of small books is Once Around the Sun by Ronald Fraser. It is the story of the International Geophysical Year and what we hope to learn from it.

Come in and ask us some questions about books. With all the visitors in town we get so many questions about what is there to see and which restaurants are good, and where can they get in touch with a reliable baby-sitter, and where is the nearest restroom, that a question about books is a welcome change.

Archibel Holmes

Mrs. Archibel Hall Holmes, widow of C. Fred Holmes, died unexpectedly on July 21 while vacationing in Miami, Florida, with her daughter, Mrs. Craig Hamilton of Orland.

Mrs. Holmes and her husband established a home in Carmel over 20 years ago and lived here part of each year. They also maintained a home in Gerber where Mr. Holmes had extensive ranching interests.

Besides Mrs. Hamilton, Mrs. Holmes is survived by another daughter, Mrs. Barbara Higgins of Berkeley; two sons, Dan Holmes of Carmel and Gerber, and C. Fred Holmes, Jr., of San Francisco; her mother, Mrs. James Hall of Corning; a brother, Dr. Gordon Hall of Madera; three grandchildren; and one great-grandchild.

Funeral services were held in Red Bluff on July 25. Friends wishing to honor the memory of Mrs. Holmes may do so in the form of donations to the Monterey County Heart Association, Box 1329, Monterey.

Nettie McFarland

Mrs. Nettie Wellington McFarland died on Saturday in a local rest home after several months of failing health. She was 98 years old and had lived in Carmel with her daughter, Mrs. A. Neil McArthur, since 1949.

Mrs. McFarland was born in Folsom on February 28, 1860. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Wellington, came West from Massachusetts by ox team in 1852. Her father took up land in Nevada, and established and operated a stage line from Carson City to Aurora. He built an overnight hotel on his homestead in Wellington, a little town which still bears his name. Later he operated a stage line from Grass Valley to Colfax.

Mrs. McFarland spent her early life in Wellington. She went to school in Massachusetts and returned to California on the just completed Union Pacific railroad. She was married to the late Andrew McFarland in Napa in 1888.

Survivors, besides Mrs. McArthur, are another daughter, Mrs. Harry Leach, Sr., of Piedmont; two grandchildren, Harry E. Leach Jr., of Piedmont and Mrs. Paul J. Franklin, Jr. of Orinda; and two great-grandchildren.

Private funeral services were held on Monday afternoon in the Paul Mortuary with the Reverend H. M. M. Nicholas of All Saints' Episcopal Church officiating. Inurnment was in the Little Chapel-by-the-Sea Crematorium.

How to do it better with WATER

WHEN YOU'RE ARRANGING FLOWERS.....

Before you arrange your flowers in a container, re-cut each stem on a slant under water and let stand in deep water until ready to arrange. Cut your flowers in early morning or late evening whenever possible. They are full of water at these times and will last days longer.

If you prefer cut greens to flowers, you'll find they will last up to four times longer if you completely submerge them for several hours in cold water.

Some flowers (hydrangeas, poinsettias, dahlias, and other "weepy-stemmed" varieties respond beautifully and will keep well if you will dip the cut end of the stem into boiling vinegar and then plunge into hot (120°) water for a few minutes. Then let them drink in COLD water—up to their necks for several hours. They'll last for days. (Be careful not to steam the leaves or blossoms. They can be protected with waxed paper, loosely wrapped.)

We wish it were possible to itemize your water bill to show you how little it costs for all the different jobs you give water. The rates you pay are regulated not by us, but by your government. The Public Utilities Commission of California employs a large staff of accountants, inspectors and engineers to determine what are fair and reasonable charges, and to regulate our service.

Gen. Monning Commands 409th

The 409th Engineer Brigade of the U. S. Army Reserve arrived at Fort Ord this week for its annual field training under the command of Brigadier General John C. Monning of Pasadena, husband of the former Betty Wheeler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willard W. Wheeler of Pebble Beach. Mrs. Monning is spending the two weeks while her husband is at Fort Ord here with her parents. Also visiting the Wheelers are the two Monning children, Barbara, ten, and Billy, seven years old. General and Mrs. Monning met during World War II when the former was stationed at Fort Ord with the 19th Engineer Combat regiment. They were married in 1947. In civilian life General Monning is a structural engineer and assistant superintendent of the City of Los Angeles Department of Building and Safety.

The 409th Engineer Brigade which General Monning commands is one of the few U. S. Army Reserve units ever called to active duty as a unit and had a distinguished record throughout the Korean conflict. It is made up of Engineer units from Arizona and Southern California.

In World War II, General Monning commanded the 39th Engineer Combat Group which made assault landings in Sicily and Italy, and saw action in Tunisia, Italy, Austria and Jugoslavia. Since the war he has commanded the 309th Engineer Combat Group and completed the five year Command and General Staff course at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas.

A crop of corn is ripening at Sunset School. When shrubs were planted to beautify the playfield fence at Tenth and San Carlos Streets, two corn plants sprouted. They throve. Now one of them has ears of corn, the other is in full flower. Who's going to eat the crop, or should it be preserved for seed stock named Sunset Volunteer?

Cooke's Cove at the foot of Thirteenth Avenue is cleaned up. This week a bulldozer pushed clean sand fill into the stagnant pool left by flood tides and removed the kelp which has cluttered the cove all summer. Everything is set for volleyball. For the past several summers informal tournaments have been played in the cove, with players ranging through college football heroes, soldiers who have never seen a volleyball or a beach before, local youthful residents and Carmel students home for vacation. Tournament galleries were pretty, tanned girls, lots of them in bathing suits.

Bulldozing has been going on all along the beach. The seawall is being extended and beach grass planted. The white wooden fence built on the West side of Scenic at Tenth is a temporary drain guard to be removed later. There are no permanent structures planned for the beach even though it does, at present, look as though levelling has been done for a subdivision.

EXTREMELY CHOICE WITH AN OCEAN VIEW

WE'RE PROUD OF THIS ONE—It is an immaculate 3-bedroom, 2-bath house. The floor plan is excellent, the construction is tops, and it's just different enough to be interesting. It is very realistically priced at $39,500.

CARMEL POINT CUSTOM-BUILT HOME

WE'RE PROUD OF THIS ONE, TOO—It's a 2-bedroom, 2-bath home that has hardly been lived in. It has a view of the Valley and the lagoon. The out-of-town owner changed his mind, but he surely had good taste. We doubt that you could replace this house at its low asking price of $34,000.

ATTENTION MILLIONAIRES LOOKING FOR LOTS

WE HAVE A COUPLE OF REAL BEAUTIES—One is about the most spectacular acre of ocean-front property in these parts. It's located in Carmel Highlands. It is almost impossible to believe that such magnificent property can actually be purchased . . . The other lot is ONE-HALF ACRE ON CARMEL POINT, ON SCENIC DRIVE, WITH A PRIVATE BEACH. Now that sounds absolutely impossible. We wouldn't believe it ourselves if we didn't have it in writing. Let us show you these two exclusive listings.

Brownings' Concert Pleases Critics

He especially enjoys the people he has met, both by chance and by arrangement, before and after concerts.

Born in Denver in 1933, John is the only son of John and Esther Browning, professional violin-piano duo. He moved to Los Angeles with his family at the age of 12, attended public schools there and Occidental College two years before training at Juilliard of which he is a graduate. A sister, Betty Browning Witchey of the Los Angeles area, is a painter-sculptor.

While they were residents of Denver, the Brownings originated the Veinnese Waltz Nights there.

As a family they are apparently both generous and critical of one another's artistic accomplishments. The elder Browning is one of the few people who falls asleep while the younger plays the piano. But it's really a kind of compliment.

When John once objected, his father replied that if it were poor music he was hearing, he certainly wouldn't be able to sleep.

While in Carmel, John was a house guest of his friend and most kindly critic, Mrs. Charles Trumbly, who returns today from Southern California. She attended his Hollywood Bowl concert, which received enthusiastic reviews in the Los Angeles papers.

Sea of Light—Pretty Molli Baldwin shines out from a veritable ocean of light bulbs, a small fraction of the 14,000 it takes to light up the grounds of the California State Fair and Exposition, scheduled August 27 through September 7 in Sacramento. More than 10,000 standard electric bulbs illuminate the Fair; along with 4,000 flood lights and hundreds of fluorescent tubes.

Stanford Honors For Jeanne

At present Jeanne is in Europe attending summer and fall quarters at the Stanford-in-Germany campus near Stuttgart. She returns to Carmel in December and will complete her senior year work at the Palo Alto Stanford campus after Chirstmas. She was Carmel High School valedictorian in 1955. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Joseph B. Fratessa.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERMON

How strength and freedom are gained through understanding God, divine Love, will be a topic dealt with at Christian Science services Sunday.

One of the selections from the Bible in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Love" is this from Matthew: "And Jesus went about all Galilee, teaching in their synagogues, and preaching the gospel of the kingdom, and healing all manner of sickness and all manner of disease among the people" (4-23).

Correlative passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy include the following (454:18-23): "Love inspires, illumines, designates, and leads the way. Right motives give piercing to thought, and strength and freedom to speech and action. Love is priestess at the altar of Truth. Wait patiently for divine Love to move upon the waters of mortal mind, and form the perfect concept."

Gladys Stone, county superintendent of schools, notified the governing board of the Carmel Unified School District Monday that September 18 has been agreed upon as the date for the meeting of the County Committee on school organization at Carmel High School library.

The school boards of Carmel, Monterey, Pfeiffer and Palo Colorado districts have been invited to attend to discuss:

CASTING NEW PLAY

Plaintiff in a Pretty Hat is the title of the comedy to be cast on Tuesday evening at the Golden Bough Circle Theatre. Hugh Williams, co-author of the play with his wife Margaret, also starred in it during a long London run which closed only recently.

For its American premiere, director Edward Kuster is seeking five actors whose speech is impeccable, four of them preferably of British origin. The cast includes three men, aged about 70, 45 and 20, and two young women, one of whom is American. Backstage help is also needed.

Readings will be held at 7:30 o'clock in the evening in the theatre on Casanova Street. Rehearsals begin August 6. Anyone wishing to be considered for a part but unable to attend readings should contact Mr. Kuster at OL 9-2528 prior to August 5.

CRAIG IN NATION'S CAPITAL

"A fortune awaits the man who first succeeds in bottling Carmel's cool fog and shipping it East," writes Don Craig from sweltering Washington, D. C. "Not missing anything within walking distance," he continues, and identifies himself on the flowering-cherry-tree postcard as "Carmel's last pedestrian, Don Craig."

Mr. and Mrs. Craig have been spending most of their Eastern visit exploring the New England States and have taken a trip into French Canada.

New Zealanders Unimpressed By Carmel Scenery

On South Island in New Zealand a bounty is paid for each deer shot because they are in such abundance they menace agriculture. Rabbits also are a problem to farmers and destroyed by poison distributed by low flying planes.

Mrs. Hyslop was apprehensive about California in one respect. "We have no poisonous reptiles in New Zealand," she observed. "I should hate to meet a snake."

Our automobiles impressed the Hyslops. "In New Zealand we are pleased to own a ten-year-old car," they said. "There are very few models later than 1955."

Parents of three children, the Hyslops were interested in schools here. In New Zealand all students wear uniforms to school. Parents receive a government subsidy to buy these clothes, also 15 shillings a week government subsidy to support each child as well as government aid for medical care and hospitalization when each child is born. "Our trouble in New Zealand is underpopulation," explained Mr. Hyslop.

Water Petition Signatures Running 80 Percent Valid

At noon today the county clerk's office was at the half way mark on verifying the signatures of the water district petitions. County Clerk Emmett McMenamin reports that 810 out of the first 1000 signatures checked are "good."

The petitions were circulated by individuals interested in getting a proposition on the November ballot: should a water district be established on the Monterey Peninsula? To succeed, the petitions must have signatures of at least 10 percent of the registered voters, by areas and cities. If any one area or city fails to have the required 10 percent, all fail. The lack of enthusiasm in Monterey and Seaside was such that the proponents had to put on a last minute "crash" campaign. They got their required number but their margin of safety is narrow. If, when the count is completed tomorrow night, it is found that any of the areas or cities are short, the petitioners will have another chance, until Wednesday, to pick up the needed signatures, Clerk McMenamin says. It will then be necessary for the board of supervisors to call a special meeting Wednesday to receive the petitions. If it is found that there are enough valid signatures Friday night, then the supervisors will act on them at their regular Monday meeting. The board has no choice but to put the proposition on the ballot.
